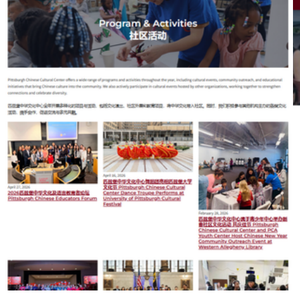
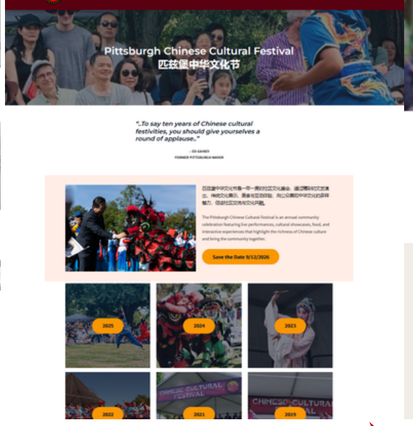
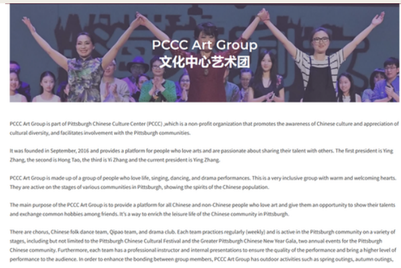
Visually impressive (Dragon in shape of 中), but is bordered by a black yellow border that's too small and blurry

Good Links to things but some links are dead and inaccessible







Love the images used as they highlight what they do best: Cultural Performances

Inconsistent layout between website pages

Navigation Bar layouts Lunar New Year and Cultural Festival Separately from community actions and art group. Kind of downplays their true impact for the community

Red and Yellow feels too cliche to a Chinese Restaurant, but Yellow, Black, and White does scream Pittsburgh

Typography looks fine for the most part though the Chinese and English fonts do not blend (bold CN vs normal EN)

Pictures are fine, but the combination of English and Chinese Text makes it very difficult to read

Proposed visual identity

Culture Spotlight campaign — warm, curious, editorial. A cultural magazine, not a community bulletin.

COLOR PALETTE

INK BLACK #1C1C1E	RICE PAPER #F5EDD6
TERRACOTTA #C4622D	JADE #7BA99A
GOLD #C9A54C

Rice paper = bg · Terracotta = CTAs only · Jade = tags · Gold = sparingly

PHOTOGRAPHY DIRECTION

PERFORMANCE · SICHUAN OPERA

Performance photography is PCCC's strongest asset. Pair every image with cultural context — the same photo does entirely different work with a curiosity hook vs. a bare event recap.

CALLIGRAPHIC BRUSH STROKE

RECOMMENDED

Fluid brushwork replaces the current cluttered emblem. Culturally rooted, scalable, and distinctive at small sizes.

WHAT CHANGES

- Removes blurry black border
- Adds clear wordmark
- Scalable at all sizes
- Aligns with terracotta & gold palette
